

Fulcrum

Fulcrum is a single-screen video work that presents a great self-perambulatory force, potentially productive but livid with menace, tearing through undiscovered landscapes. It could be seen as a vast apparatus or even an entire city, which has rolled up all of its constituent parts into a giant centrifugal disk that goes on an exploratory rampage. Simultaneously, within its ever-shifting bounds, Fulcrum is like a womb, spinning ideas - ancient and new - into incalculably evolving possibilities.

Fulcrum

Installation view

FULCRUM
2007/8